BIR Annual Radiotherapy and Oncology Meeting 2021

This is an inaugural meeting for the BIR, which brings together speakers from around the world and national experts too, to share experiences and expertise in a very wide range of aspects for today's cutting-edge radiotherapy and oncology. The latest techniques, technologies, methods and issues will be discussed in this comprehensive meeting taking place over two days. Opportunities aplenty for networking with fellow professionals and discussing the latest offerings from manufacturers.

Expert teaching sessions will be held at the end of day one, and the start of day two, to provide targeted educational opportunities in areas such as IGRT, dosimetry and detectors, particle therapy and adaptive therapy. Sessions are also earmarked for proffered material in the form of oral presentations, and other material will be accepted in the form of ePosters and short YouTube clips. All-in-all, the best in radiotherapy and oncology will be featured at this new meeting!

Why exhibit?

- Direct contact with clinicians, scientists and leaders and decision-makers
- Build key relationships with practitioners and decision makers in a relaxed environment
- Develop new and stronger community networks
- Increase familiarity with your brand and products among experts in the field
- Gain first-hand insight about market developments and what your customers are thinking
- Gain access to highly targeted direct marketing channels
